Prerequisites:

No previous Internet or Web design technology expertise is required. Familiarity with the operation of a personal computer equipped with Windows and familiarity with Internet browsers and accessing the Web is necessary.

Course Description: (catalog)

This course combines theory and practice in introducing the student to the fundamental elements that make up a web page. The student will understand how a web page is structured, organized, and presented in a browser. The student will learn how to use HTML (the language of the web) to create a range of web pages. Using sample pages, the student will learn how HTML is used for text formatting, page layout, creating hyperlinks and lists, displaying images and how FTP is used to upload web pages to a web server. The student will also learn how to create more advanced layouts using tables, cascading style sheets, frames, and forms. Students should be familiar with a personal computer, Windows, and the Internet.

Course Objectives:

1. The student will learn tags used in HTML.

2. The student will produce web pages using tables, frames, images, forms, and cascading style sheets.
3. The student will understand the advantages and disadvantages of HTML.
4. The student will be introduced to XHTML and how and why changes are made in markup languages.
5. The student will publish his/her web pages on the web.
6. The student will learn how to correct pages and add pages to a published site.
7. The student will create and produce a website assigned by the instructor.
8. The student will understand the considerations and problems involved in web publishing and maintenance.

Textbook:

HTML: Complete Concepts and Techniques, 5th Edition Gary B. Shelly / Denise M. Woods ISBN-10: 1423927214

Evaluation:

Tests and projects demonstrating understanding and knowledge of concepts of all units covered.

Projects from Text	50%
Tests	20%
Project One	15%
Project Two	15%

The average of all tests will comprise 20% of the final grade. If a student does not submit a test on time, it will be recorded as a 0.

Two projects (assigned website demonstrating materials covered in tutorials). The specific projects with guidelines are assigned by the instructor. The two projects comprise 30% of the final grade. If a student does not submit a project in time, it will be recorded as a 0.

All submitted work (projects from text, tests, and original projects) are to be attached to the appropriate assignment sheets and submitted through WebCT. Assignments are not to be attached to an email.

*At the instructor's discretion, certain class work assignments may be used as a test grade. No makeup on projects from text, tests, and original projects. All are due by the stated time, and no late work will be accepted.

Grading Scale:

Assignments and Tests will be graded on the following basis:

100-93 = A	82-80 = B-	69-67 = D+
92-90 = A-	79-77 = C+	66-63 = D
89-87 = B+	76-73 = C	62-60 = D-
86-83 = B	72-70 = C-	59 or less = F

Class and Attendance Policies:

Although this is an online class, you are to log onto the course each day to check for announcements, email, and/or assignments. Assignments and any necessary changes to assignments will be posted on the calendar and, therefore, the calendar needs to be checked on a daily basis.

All work is due by the listed date and no late work will be accepted. It is your responsibility to log onto the course to check the course calendar and to answer all emails I send to you.

If for any reason I feel it is important for you to see me on campus, I will let you know. It is important that all work is saved on your flash drive and that you have this with you when we meet. You may see me on campus during my regularly scheduled office hours or request an appointment for a specific time, preferably on Thursday afternoon.

Office Hours:

My office hours on the Brockton campus are Tuesday, Thursday 11—12:30. I also am available online (time will be announced). You may also email me through WebCT.

If for any reason you are unable to log onto WebCT, email me at msherry@massasoit.mass.edu. When you email me, include the name of the course in the subject line. Also, make sure you include your full name. I do not open any email that does not have a name that I recognize or an appropriate subject line.
